M.A. Ford® Custom Tool Division

The M.A. Ford® Custom Tool Division focuses on meeting the growing need for unique and increasing complex special cutting tools because some machining challenges just can't be solved with off-the-shelf tooling. By partnering with select machine tool users, the Custom Tool Division develops and supplies custom engineered carbide tools of unmatched quality which meet or exceed their productivity, delivery and utilized cost expectations. Custom tools are proven to increase speeds and feeds, save setup and handling time which in turn leads to faster run times, more efficient manufacturing and most importantly, increased profits.

Each year the Custom Division produces countless Custom Tools to help our customers improve production efficiencies, and reduce cost per part by using our custom tooling solutions. M.A. Ford's Custom Tool Division was started over 20 years ago with dedicated equipment and production team with one goal, to develop and manufacture Custom Tools for our end users. We are confident we can help your business too.

Here are some of the services the M.A. Ford® Custom Tool Division Offers:

- Technical assistance in prototype custom tool design.
- Re-engineering of existing custom tooling to optimize tool performance.
- Tool manufacturing lead times which meet or exceed your delivery requirements.
- Immediate response to quotation request.
- Custom tools of the highest quality.
